1. Introduction

This Service Instruction sets out how misconduct matters involving police officers up to and including Chief Superintendent rank will be dealt with.

2. Principles

The purpose of police misconduct procedures are threefold:

1. To maintain public confidence in, and the reputation of the PSNI;
2. To uphold high standards in policing and deter misconduct;
3. To protect the public.

Where there has been a breach of the Code of Ethics, the PSNI will deal with it in a fair, proportionate and timely manner.

This Service Instruction is designed to provide an overview of the way in which conduct issues will be dealt with, although the primary reference documents are the Police \(Conduct\) Regulations \(Northern Ireland\) 2016; the Police Appeals Tribunals

Regulations \(Northern Ireland\) 2016; and associated Guidance issued by the Department of Justice.

3. Roles and Overview of Process

Decisions as to whether a matter is investigated, and following investigation, whether an officer should face misconduct proceedings, are made by the Appropriate Authority (AA). The appropriate authority for the Police Service of Northern Ireland (PSNI) is set out in regulation 3(2) of the Police (Conduct) Regulations (Northern Ireland) 2016, which provides that the appropriate authority for a member of PSNI who is a senior officer¹ is the Northern Ireland Policing Board, and for any other officer, the Chief Constable.

Regulation 3(6) provides that where the appropriate authority is the Chief Constable, they may delegate any of their functions under these Regulations. Appendix A outlines the Chief Constable's Scheme of

Delegation for PSNI Professional Standards matters.

In general the delegated appropriate authority for Police Ombudsman and Professional Standards matters is the (D)/Superintendent(s) or (D)/Chief Inspector in Professional Standards' Department. For locally arising matters this role will be fulfilled by the local Superintendent. This does not however limit the ability of local supervisors and managers to take normal management action as part of their normal management role.

Misconduct Proceedings can take two forms – Misconduct Meeting, and Misconduct Hearing. Misconduct Meetings are normally conducted by a local Chief Inspector, depending on the rank of the officer concerned. There may be occasions where Professional Standards will appoint a Superintendent or above to conduct a Misconduct Meeting.

Misconduct Hearings are normally only held for gross misconduct matters, with the exception of when an officer who is in receipt of a Final Written Warning (FWW) comes under notice for a further conduct matter during the validity period of the FWW. Gross misconduct is defined as a breach of the Code of Ethics where the misconduct is so serious that dismissal would be justified.

Appendix B details the misconduct outcomes available to Misconduct Meetings and Hearings.

'Management Action' is action or advice designed to improve the conduct of the officer concerned. It is not a misconduct outcome arising from a Meeting or Hearing, but can be directed by the Appropriate Authority following the initial assessment, or following an investigation. In any case where the Appropriate Authority directs Management Action, the officer will be notified in writing of the decision. Management Action would normally be given by the second line manager. Whilst it is not a misconduct sanction, it does need to be notified to Professional Standards on zProfessionalStandardsOCMT for record purposes. It may also be appropriate to make reference to it on an officer's Individual Performance Review (IPR).

Appendix C provides an overview of misconduct procedures.

Full process maps in relation to assessments, determinations and misconduct proceedings are available on the Professional Standards page on POINT.

4. Suspension and Repositioning

Regulation 10 of the Police (Conduct) Regulations relates to suspension. The Chief Constable of PSNI delegates all of the functions of the appropriate authority to the Deputy Chief Constable, who should take those decisions or determinations as described by regulation 3(7) of the Police (Conduct) Regulations (Northern Ireland) 2016. In his or her absence, those decisions may be taken by an Assistant Chief Constable (preferably with previous experience of, or responsibility for, Professional Standards).

The suspension conditions are that repositioning (duties or location) is not appropriate, AND EITHER investigation of the case may be prejudiced unless the officer is suspended, OR it is in the public interest that the officer is suspended having regard to the nature of the allegations and other relevant considerations.

Relevant considerations may include:

- Any apparent aggravating or mitigating factors;
- The strength of evidence;
- The public interest, the reputation of the Police Service and the potential impact on public confidence;
- Whether effective investigation of the allegation may be compromised if the officer remains in post;
- The nature of the current post held, alternative posts, and the potential risk to the individual, public, colleagues, operations or the investigation if the officer is not suspended;
- The likely outcome should the matter be proven at criminal/misconduct proceedings;

- The impact on organisational efficiency. By its nature, the above list is not exhaustive.

Once a decision has been taken to suspend an officer, they will be notified of the suspension in writing with a summary of the reasons. If they are notified verbally, the suspension will be confirmed in writing within three working days.

Once suspended, an officer must surrender their identity card and may no longer exercise police powers. The person notifying the officer concerned of the suspension must make arrangements to secure the officer's uniform and notebooks/journals. Access to PSNI IT systems will be suspended, and the officer will not be permitted access to police premises except when accompanied and for official purposes. A suspended officer remains subject to the PSNI Code of Ethics.

It is the responsibility of the officer's Senior Management Team to appoint a welfare and liaison officer, consider the officer's suitability to access firearms (see Chapter 8 of the Conflict Management Manual), and to consider conducting a risk assessment in conjunction with Occupational Health and Welfare. The officer's senior management will also be responsible for notifying Public Prosecution Service (PPS) of the suspension, so that PPS can make an informed decision on any cases in which the officer is a witness. Suspension does not preclude an officer's attendance at court as a witness.

Welfare contact should take place on at least a monthly basis, and if the officer is dismissed at a misconduct hearing, this contact should continue for a month after the officer leaves the Service.

5. Representations and Review

The officer or their 'police friend' can make representations against the suspension within 10 working days of being notified of the suspension, or at any time during the suspension if they believe circumstances have changed.

A 'police friend' is defined as a police officer who is not otherwise involved in the matter. Regulation 6 outlines the role of the police friend.

The Appropriate Authority will review the suspension before the end of twenty working days of the suspension if a review hasn't already taken place following representations. A review will also be conducted when circumstances have changed, whether that has been notified by the IO, or by the officer or their police friend through representations. The Appropriate Authority will notify the officer in writing of any review within three working days of the review taking place and of the reasons for the decision.

6. Pay, Allowance and sickness

The PSNI Regulations 2005 specify that a suspended officer will, with certain exceptions, receive full pay. The exceptions are when an officer's whereabouts is unknown, or if they are in custody following conviction.

An officer who is temporarily promoted at the time of suspension will revert to their substantive rank once suspended.

Officers who are suspended from duty are still permitted to take their annual leave entitlement in the normal way whilst suspended, providing they seek permission from their line management. When considering the granting of annual leave, managers should liaise with Professional Standards to ensure there will be no impact on the investigation, or criminal/misconduct proceedings. Any annual leave not taken by the police officer concerned will still be subject to the rules governing the maximum number of days which can be carried over and it is the officer's personal responsibility to ensure they avail of their annual leave allowance.

An officer may still be suspended even if they are currently on sick leave. However, any relevant matters of a medical nature must be notified to Professional Standards for inclusion on the report recommending suspension. The advice of OHW may be sought prior to making the decision on whether to suspend. The suspension will take effect immediately the officer is notified of suspension and not when the officer returns to duty off sick leave. Practical consideration must be given to ensuring appropriate support is available if an officer on sick leave is suspended. Any illness or injury whilst on suspension should be reported by the officer to their line manager in the normal way. Medical certificates must be forwarded promptly in accordance with current instructions.

Sickness which occurs while an officer is suspended will count in respect of Regulation 27 of the PSNI Regulations 2005 (reduction in pay after six months/one year).

7. Investigation

Regulations 11 – 20 of the Police (Conduct) Regulations relate to investigations.

The purpose of an investigation is to gather evidence to establish the facts and circumstances of alleged misconduct, and to assist the Appropriate Authority to determine if there is a case to answer for misconduct or gross misconduct.

If an officer is to be investigated, they will be served with a Regulation 16 notice (or in PONI cases, a Regulation 17 notice). This will describe the alleged conduct along with the officer's rights. Any investigating officer (IO) must have the skills and experience to plan and manage an investigation. There is no requirement for them to be a rank above the officer concerned.

An officer or their police friend may make representations to the IO within 10 working days following receipt of a Regulation 16 or Regulation 17 notice. This period can be extended by the IO. The officer may provide a written or oral statement relating to the investigation, or provide relevant documents, including, for example, suggestions as to lines of enquiry or witnesses to be spoken to. The IO will record receiving any representations and give consideration to them.

If an officer is to be interviewed, the IO will attempt to agree a date and time for the interview, although if it cannot be agreed, the IO will specify the date and time for the interview. This will be confirmed in writing and the officer has a duty to attend. They may be accompanied by a police friend. The IO shall provide information in advance to enable the officer to prepare for interview. It is for the IO to determine what material he or she believes is appropriate to provide in advance.

The IO will notify the officer of the progress of the investigation within 20 working days of the service of the Regulation 16 or 17 Notice, and thereafter when circumstances change.

At the conclusion of an investigation, the IO will prepare a report to the Appropriate Authority summarising the evidence, attach or refer to any relevant documents, and provide a clear opinion on whether there is a case to answer in respect of misconduct, gross misconduct, or if they believe there is no case to answer. Appendix D shows the investigation process.

Nothing in this section affects powers of investigation under PACE.

8. Appropriate Authority Determination

Once the investigating officer has submitted their report, the Appropriate Authority makes their determination. The chart contained within Appendix E demonstrates the decision-making process.

9. Meetings/Hearings

Misconduct proceedings may take the form of a Misconduct Meeting (held locally, and in relation to misconduct matters); or a Misconduct Hearing (in relation to gross misconduct, or in misconduct cases, where a final written warning is in place).

Appendix F and Appendix G outline the procedures to be followed before and during Misconduct Meetings and Hearings.

The Chief Constable has issued Guidance on Outcomes in Police Misconduct Proceedings, and those conducting misconduct hearings and meetings should have regard to this guidance.

10. Appeals

Appeals from Misconduct Meetings are dealt with by an officer of at least one rank above the officer who conducted the Misconduct Meeting. Appendix G outlines the process. Appeals from Misconduct Hearings are dealt with by a Police Appeals Tribunal. It should be noted that a misconduct outcome can be increased as well as decreased at appeal.

11. Record Keeping

All misconduct outcomes arising from Misconduct Meetings or Hearings will be recorded by Professional Standards. Additionally, any management action arising from a matter which has been assessed by an Appropriate Authority as a misconduct matter must also be notified to Professional Standards on zProfessionalStandardsOCMT.

It may be appropriate for management action which is taken in the course of normal management activity to be noted on an officer's IPR.

Guidance is available on the Professional Standards intra-net site on the circumstances in which revelation of misconduct sanctions must be advised to PPS.

12. Regulation 13 processes for Probationer Officers

There are separate processes for dealing with probationer officers who it appears will not become 'efficient or well conducted' police officers. The Probationary Officer Development Guidance refers. There may be occasions where it is appropriate to deal with conduct issues pertaining to a probationary officer under those procedures. Each case will be considered on its merits, taking cognisance of the nature of the conduct and the strength of evidence against the officer.

Appendix A Delegation of the role and responsibilities of the appropriate authority: PSNI

Chief Constable's Scheme of Delegation: Professional Standards

1. The appropriate authority for the Police Service of Northern Ireland (PSNI) is set out in regulation 3(2) of the Police (Conduct) Regulations (Northern Ireland) 2016, which provides that the appropriate authority for a member of PSNI who is a senior officer² is the Northern Ireland Policing Board, and for any other officer, the Chief Constable.
2. Regulation 3(6) provides that where the appropriate authority is the Chief Constable, they may delegate any of their functions under these Regulations to a member of at least the rank of Chief Inspector. Regulation 3(7) provides that where the Chief Constable delegates his or her functions, decisions in respect of regulation 10 [suspension] or regulation 42 [referral of a case to a special case hearing], shall be taken by a senior officer.
3. The PSNI's Professional Standards Department (PSD) routinely deals with matters concerning misconduct, (including disciplinary proceedings), counter corruption, and diverse matters aligned to police integrity, including liaison with the Police Ombudsman of Northern Ireland (PONI). PSNI's PSD is headed by a Chief Superintendent. The Head of PSD is line managed by, and reports directly to, the Deputy Chief Constable.
4. PSNI Service Instruction SI0416 – Police Misconduct (2016) sets out how PSNI deals with misconduct matters involving police officers up to and including the rank of Chief Superintendent. Paragraph 3 provides that for PONI and Professional Standards matters, the appropriate authority is routinely the (D)/Superintendent(S) or (D)/Chief Inspectors in Professional Standards. For locally arising matters this role will be fulfilled by the local Superintendent.

² "Senior officer" means a member above the rank of chief superintendent

5. The role of the appropriate authority carries significant operational and organisational responsibilities. Those undertaking appropriate authority decisions or determinations are expected to know, understand, and operate within complex statutory, regulatory and procedural frameworks. The role invariably includes the assimilation and analysis of sensitive personal and professional information, intelligence, and evidence. The decisions of an appropriate authority can, and often do, have a lasting impact on the reputation of the service, the force and individual officers. Ideally, those undertaking the role of the appropriate authority should receive bespoke training.³
6. The purpose of this Scheme of Delegation is to describe the extent of any delegated authority to ensure the Chief Constable's powers as the appropriate authority are carried out in accordance within the statutory and regulatory framework which is primarily set out in The Police (Northern Ireland) Act 1998 and the Police (Conduct) Regulations (Northern Ireland) 2016.
7. This Scheme of Delegation is a formal authority from the Chief Constable to officers and staff stating what they can legally do in the name of the Chief Constable. It provides for single points of responsibility and authority for decision-making and forms part of a wider robust accountability of governance, control, scrutiny and challenge that delivers:
 - transparency in decision-making
 - regulatory and legislative compliance
 - the ability to operate in a timely and consistent fashion across all aspects of complaint and misconduct referrals, assessments, investigations, and casework outcomes

Appropriate authority: permitted delegations

8. The Chief Constable of PSNI hereby delegates all of the functions of the appropriate authority to the Deputy Chief Constable, who should take those decisions or determinations as described by regulation 3(7) of the Police (Conduct) Regulations (Northern Ireland) 2016. In his or her absence, those decisions

³ In recent years, National Police Chiefs' Council and the College of Policing provide a course to equip senior leaders with the confidence and capability to navigate complex regulation, guidance, and case law to promote the adoption of rigorous, proportionate and fair decision making may be taken by an Assistant Chief Constable (preferably with previous experience of, or responsibility for, Professional Standards).

9. The specific functions of the appropriate authority for all matters relating to the PONI and all matters relating to investigations assessed within, and investigated by, PSD are further delegated to the Head of the Professional Standards Department (PSD), and to the (D)/ Superintendents and (D) Chief Inspectors, PSD. For locally arising matters this role will be fulfilled by the local Superintendent.
10. If any of the responsibilities which fall under the 2016 Conduct Regulations which would ordinarily fall to the (D) Detective Superintendents, PSD or the (D) Detective Chief Inspector(s) PS) appears to him or her to be potentially controversial or sensitive in nature, the DCC or Head of PSD should first be consulted on whether the matter should be referred formally to either the DCC or to the Head of PSD to take personal responsibility for making the decision or determination.
11. In any such case, the agreed decision maker should clearly document who has taken the decision as the appropriate authority, who was consulted in the course of making that decision, and the rationale for any deviation from the normal delegated authority
