2. POLICY STATEMENTS

- (1) The Police Service of Northern Ireland (the Police), and the Northern Ireland Policing Board (NIPB) acknowledges its moral and legal responsibility to ensure, so far as is reasonably practicable, the health, safety and welfare of its employees and all others affected by our work.
- (2) To achieve this the police and NIPB shall ensure, so far as is reasonably practicable, the provision and maintenance of:
 - (a) safe and healthy working conditions, safe equipment and safe systems of work for all personnel; and
 - (b) such resources, information, training and supervision as is needed for these purposes.
- (3) To this end we will comply fully with the requirements of the Health and Safety at Work (NI) Order 1978 and all other relevant statutory provisions and recognised codes of practice.
- (4) The Police and NIPB regards health and safety as an integral part of the management function and all personnel, irrespective of grade or rank, are expected to play a full role in securing the objective of this Policy. The Police and NIPB also acknowledges the important role of the Staff Associations in achieving these aims and will maintain full and effective consultation.
- (5) To assist the police and NIPB personnel in meeting its legal obligations the Service will provide competent advice on safety and health matters.
- (6) A copy of this statement will be issued to all police personnel. It will be reviewed annually and modified as necessary.

Matt Baggott
Chief Constable
Police Service of Northern Ireland

Northern Ireland Policing Board

3. INTRODUCTION

(1) Summary

- (a) The general purpose of the Policy is to secure the health, safety and welfare of persons at work, including an aim to involve everyone and make them aware of the importance of these matters.
- (b) This will improve both frontline and support staff safety, which will in turn, ensure the availability of resources to fulfil the Chief Constable's policing functions and the policing objectives of the NIPB.

(2) Application

The Policy is aimed at all levels of the organisation and applies to all full-time and part-time police officers; members of police staff, including agency staff; student officers, secondees to the police and others to whom the police would appear to be the host employer (collectively referred to as police staff).

(3) Legal Basis

The Health and Safety at Work (Northern Ireland) Order 1978 provides a legislative framework to promote, stimulate and encourage high standards of health and safety at work. This is further developed by Regulations made under the Order. Health and Safety legislation was extended to police officers through the introduction of the Police (Health and Safety) (NI) Order 1997.

4. IMPLICATIONS OF THE POLICY

Health and Safety impacts on all aspects and at all levels of the organisation and as a result should be seamlessly integrated into all activities, decision-making processes and management committees. This Policy has been developed to assist in assuring/Human Rights, specifically Article 2 - right to life and Article 8 - right to private and family life with reference to physical integrity/health, safety and welfare. Failure to comply with the Policy, Procedures and Guidance may result in criminal actions against the organisation or an individual. Disciplinary action may be instigated against an individual regardless of criminal action.

(1) Risks

- (a) Failure to fully comply with the Policy may lead to injuries to police staff or others, which may in turn result in disciplinary measures against individuals, or managers.
- (b) Civil actions against the Chief Constable may result from injuries sustained, which may in turn result in financial costs to both corporate and local budgets.
- (c) Criminal action by the Health and Safety Executive NI may also be taken against the organisation or individuals for breaches of health and safety legislation.
- (d) This will improve both frontline and support staff safety, which will in turn, ensure the availability of resources to fulfil the Chief Constable's policing functions and the policing objectives of the NIPB.

(2) Bureaucracy

Health and Safety is an integral part of all activities and managers roles. Whilst there is a limited increase in administration, many of the activities and decisions should already be part of the day-to-day business of the Police Service. The increase in administration is justified in reducing risks to both police and police staff.

(3) Consultation

(a) This Policy has been formulated by Health and Safety Branch, in consultation with:

- (i) The Police Federation;
- (ii) Northern Ireland Public Service Alliance (NIPSA);
- (iii) Superintendents Association;
- (iv) Unite;
- (v) Northern Ireland Policing Board (NIPB).

through the Executive Health and Safety Committee (EHSC).

(b) The EHSC will oversee the implementation of Health and Safety policy throughout the organisation, meet at least four times each year and will comprise of the following personnel:

- (i) Director of Human Resources (chairperson);
- (ii) Chief Medical Adviser;
- (iii) Head of Estate Services;
- (iv) Chief Health and Safety Adviser;
- (v) Staff Association/Trade Union representatives;
- (vi) Regional representatives;
- (vii) Northern Ireland Policing Board representative.

(c) The chairperson may invite any officer/police support staff or other person (for example the Health and Safety Executive for Northern Ireland) whose attendance would be considered beneficial. The Chief Health and Safety Adviser will provide a report to the EHSC updating committee members on all aspects of the management of Health and Safety matters.

5. HUMAN RIGHTS/EQUALITY/CODE OF ETHICS/FREEDOM OF INFORMATION

(1) This Policy is deemed to be Human Rights compliant. The European Convention rights enforceable under HRA 1998, which are most likely to be relevant to this guidance are the following:

- (a) Article 2 – the right to life;
- (b) Article 8 – the right to respect for private and family life with reference to health, safety and welfare (physical integrity).

(2) This Policy has been screened for Section 75 considerations and complies with the PSNI Code of Ethics.

(3) This Policy is suitable for public disclosure in accordance with the Freedom of Information Act 2000.

6. REVIEW

(1) This Policy and Guidance will be reviewed by internal audit on an annual basis and/or to reflect changes in statutory duties placed upon the police. The EHSC will oversee the process. |

(2) Linking to Relevant Information

(a) Should anyone wish to express dissatisfaction with any part of the operation of the process outlined in this guidance, in the first instance, this should be raised with the Chief Health and Safety Adviser.

(b) Employees of the Police Service may also raise concerns with their appointed Safety Representative and have access to the PSNI Grievance Policy, PD 02/05. |

SECTION 7

PROCEDURES AND GUIDANCE

1. HEALTH AND SAFETY ORGANISATION AND ARRANGEMENTS

- (1) All employees of the Police Service, both police officers and police staff, and secondees to the police and others to whom the Police Service would appear to be the host employer have a role to play in securing the objectives of the Police Service of Northern Ireland (the police) Health and Safety Policy.
- (2) The following management arrangements outlines the duties, functions and responsibilities of those within the Service and the arrangements that exist to assist them to secure the objectives.

2. NORTHERN IRELAND POLICING BOARD

- (1) The primary function of the Policing Board is to ensure the maintenance of an efficient and effective Police Service.
- (2) The Policing Board are the employer of the Support Staff, but such staff remain under the direction and control of the Chief Constable.
- (3) Under the Health and Safety at Work (NI) Order 1978 the Policing Board, as legal employer, owes a duty of care for the health and safety of police staff and a similar duty to non-employees. This duty is discharged through the health and safety management system of the Police Service and by oversight through corporate governance processes.
- (4) The Policing Board also has a duty to ensure that premises within the Police estate owned by the Policing Board are safe, which it discharges through the safety management system and through its oversight of the Police Services management of the police estate.
- (5) Whilst the Policing Board will hold him to account, the Chief Constable is responsible for the delivery of policing services in a safe manner.

3. THE CHIEF CONSTABLE

- (1) Ultimate responsibility for Health and Safety within the Police Service rests with the Chief Constable. The Chief Constable and the Policing Board are responsible for ensuring that sufficient resources are made available to meet the Service's obligations under the Health and Safety at Work (NI) Order 1978 and the Service's Health and Safety Policy.
- (2) The Chief Constable has delegated the day-to-day management and implementation of the Health and Safety Policy to the Deputy Chief Constable and the Director of Human Resources.

4. THE DEPUTY CHIEF CONSTABLE

As the person with delegated responsibility for health and safety, the Deputy Chief Constable has the following responsibilities:

- (a) Through each Chief Officer put the Health and Safety Policy into effect and support those who use and enforce it;
- (b) Through each Chief Officer ensure all staff who have responsibilities under the Health and Safety legislation receive suitable and adequate training commensurate with their responsibilities and duties;
- (c) Through each Chief Officer, ensure that each District Commander and Head of Branch or Department is aware of their responsibilities under the Health and Safety at Work (NI) Order 1978.

5. THE DIRECTOR OF HUMAN RESOURCES WILL:

- (1) Chair the EHSC and support Local Health and Safety Committees.

6. CHIEF OFFICERS, DISTRICT COMMANDERS, HEADS OF BRANCHES OR DEPARTMENTS

- (1) Chief Officers, District Commanders, Heads of Branches or Departments are accountable to the Deputy Chief Constable through their respective command/line management structures for the implementation of the Health and Safety Policy within their area of responsibility. They are responsible for the health and safety of their staff while on duty and for others who may be affected by their work activities.
- (2) Chief Officers etc may delegate key health and safety duties or functions to nominated individuals within their area of responsibility. Such appointments must be in writing and must clearly identify the duties being assigned to the personnel concerned. The nominated individual must be competent to perform their delegated role and must be allocated adequate time, resources and training. It is important to note that responsibility and accountability cannot be delegated to these persons.
- (3) The general health and safety duties of District Commanders, Heads of Branches and Departments are as follows:
 - (a) To ensure that the Service and other specific Health and Safety policies and instructions are complied with;
 - (b) To introduce and maintain local Health and Safety policies where considered necessary and periodically review the adequacy of same;
 - (c) To issue 'local' instructions to their own staff in relation to health and safety matters and ensure these instructions are followed by personnel;
 - (d) To ensure that suitable and sufficient risk assessments are carried out and recorded within all areas under their responsibility; risk assessments are required to cover vulnerable groups such as individuals who are covered by Disability Discrimination Act (DDA), pregnant workers, young persons and children. This list is not exhaustive.
 - (e) To ensure that the contents of the risk assessments are brought to the attention of the appropriate personnel;
 - (f) To ensure that risk assessments are reviewed on a regular basis and amended when necessary;
 - (g) To ensure that there are appropriate liaison arrangements with contractors to consider the risks associated with each others work activities and agreement on control measures to be used.
 - (h) To ensure that sufficient resources, including equipment, supervisors and staff are allocated to each task to ensure a safe system of work can be maintained;
 - (i) To ensure that all staff, including those newly appointed or transferred, have the necessary information, instruction and training and that they are competent to carry out their work safely;

NOT PROTECTIVELY MARKED

- (j) To ensure that all staff newly appointed to their area of responsibility are informed of the local Health and Safety policies and arrangements for health and safety. Copies of same should be readily available;
