Answer

This is to inform you that the Police Service of Northern Ireland has now completed its search for the information you requested. The decision has been taken to disclose the located information to you in full.

The provision of a temporary custody and criminal justice processing facility at the site of the former St. Lucia Barracks in Omagh as part of the G8 security and policing operation had to meet a broad range of objectives, as follows.

It, as an integral part of the overall Criminal Justice Strategy had to comply with the Human Rights Act 1998 in terms of legality, proportionality and necessity in upholding the law, protecting the public, protestors and police officers and staff.

It had to comply with the existing legislative framework, including the Police and Criminal Evidence Act, the associated Codes of Practice and applicable regulations.

It had to properly support the main aims and objectives of the Gold strategy as established by the Gold Commander.

It had to properly support ongoing day-to-day policing business continuity regarding Criminal Justice and custody issues.

It had to integrate with other Criminal Justice partners in order to deliver effective and efficient justice.

It had to ensure that custody capacity, resourcing and infrastructure supported the delivery of speedy visible justice and safe detention.

It had to ensure that case management capacity and resourcing supported the delivery of speedy visible justice.

It had to promote public confidence in PSNI and the wider Criminal Justice system.

The total estimated costs include £325,816.00 for the installation of camera and scanning equipment, computer installation, data communications and telephony.

It further includes £509,920.00 for the construction of the cells. The remaining £3,750,000.00 covered the full range of supporting infrastructure, materials costs and construction costs.

The current estimated final cost in relation to the temporary custody and criminal justice processing facility at the site of the former St. Lucia Barracks in Omagh is £4,585,736.00.
