Keyword: Complaints/Discipline

Subject: Officers Suspended on Suspicion of Corruption

Request and Answer:

Question

Can you please tell me how many PSNI officers have been suspended on suspicion of corruption since the start of 2009?

Answer

Eighteen PSNI officers have been suspended on suspicion of corruption since the start of 2009.

The Police Service expects its staff to behave professionally, ethically and with the utmost integrity at all times. Any conduct, whether on or off duty, which brings or is likely to bring discredit on the Police Service will be investigated in order to establish whether or not a breach of the Code of Ethics has occurred. The decision to suspend an officer is only taken in exceptional circumstances after all other options, including 'alternative duties', have been considered.

Considerations include:

- (i) The nature and seriousness of the alleged action of the individual(s), including any apparent aggravating or mitigating factors;
- (ii) The strength of evidence or nature of the investigation;
- (iii) The public interest and that of the Police Service;
- (iv) The reputation of the PSNI and the effect on public confidence;
- (v) Whether effective investigation of the allegation may be compromised if the officer remains in post;
- (vi) The nature of the current post held, and alternative posts, and the potential risk to the individual, public, colleagues or operations if the officer is not suspended;
- (vii) The likely outcome of a conviction in court or of a finding against the officer at a disciplinary hearing;
- (viii) The impact on organisational efficiency.

It should be noted that not all officers under suspension result in these officers facing criminal/misconduct proceedings and not all criminal/misconduct proceedings result in findings of guilt.

Whilst the PSNI takes seriously any wrongdoing by a police officer, the number of suspended officers should be put into context of the average strength of the PSNI in this time-frame, i.e. around 7,500 officers.

The information supplied has been compiled by Service Improvement Department, Discipline Branch which has responsibility for internal discipline relating to police officers.
