Answers

Section 17(5) of the Freedom of Information Act 2000 requires the Police Service of Northern Ireland, when refusing to provide such information (because the cost of compliance exceeds the appropriate limit) to provide you the applicant with a notice which states that fact.

It is estimated that the cost of complying with your request for information would exceed the “appropriate costs limit” under Section 12(1) of the Freedom of Information Act 2000. Section 12 of FOIA allows a public authority to refuse to deal with a request where it estimates that it would exceed the appropriate limit to either comply with the request in its entirety or confirm or deny whether the requested information is held. The estimate must be reasonable in the circumstances of the case. The ‘appropriate limit’ is currently £600 for central government and £450 for all other public authorities including PSNI. The relevant Regulations which define the appropriate limit for section 12 purposes are The Freedom of Information and Data Protection (Appropriate Limit and Fees) Regulation 2004 SI 2004 No 3244. These are known as the ‘Fees Regulations’ for brevity.

Regulation 4(3) of the Fees Regulations states that a public authority can take into account the costs it reasonably expects to incur in carrying out the following permitted activities in complying with the request:

- (i) determining whether the information is held;
- (ii) locating the information, or a document containing it;
- (iii) retrieving the information, or a document containing it; and
- (iv) extracting the information from a document containing it.

Under those regulations PSNI can calculate the time spent on each of these permitted activities at £25 per hour (thus if the activity(s) takes more than 18 hours PSNI will be in excess of the 'appropriate limit').

I contacted PSNI Central Statistics Branch who advised that whilst information is held electronically it also requires manual intervention. The branch has identified a total of 362 records where a crime was recorded along with the modus operandi (MO), location and subtype as "Church/religious building", "Orange hall" or "GAA hall". However to determine if each of the crimes related to an attack on the religious building itself would require manually reading through each of these records, to extract the specific information requested. This is estimated to take 60 hours which is well in excess of the FOI legislative cost of 18 hours as set by the 'Secretary of State'.

In accordance with the Freedom of Information Act 2000, this letter should be considered as a Refusal Notice, and the request has therefore been closed.

You may wish to submit a refined request in order that the cost of complying with your request may be facilitated within the 'appropriate limit'. In compliance with Section 16 of the Act, I have considered how your request may be refined to bring it under the appropriate limit: and it may be possible for PSNI Statistics Branch to possibly provide information to include occurrence time (where available), policing district, premises name and type of offence (the most relevant being Arson, Criminal damage dwelling, Criminal damage to a building other than a dwelling, Criminal damage to a vehicle, Other criminal damage, public order – bomb hoax related) where the general location (mo_location_subtype) was recorded as one of the following terms: "Church/religious building", "Orange hall" or "GAA hall". However please note that although the crime location maybe one of those building types listed, the building itself may not have suffered any damage / been attacked and again to provide this would be a manual trawl and exceed the FOI legislative costs. Submission of a refined request would be treated as a new request, and considered in accordance with the Freedom of Information Act 2000, including consideration of relevant Part II exemptions.
