FREEDOM OF INFORMATION REQUEST

Request Number: F-2022-02093

Keyword: Organisational Information Police/Staff Misconduct and Complaints

Subject: Officer Allegations and Officer Misconduct

Request and Answer:

Your request for information has now been considered. In respect of Section 1(1)(a) of the Act we can confirm that the Police Service of Northern Ireland does hold some information to which your request relates and this is being provided to you. We further consider the information you seek in request number 1, 2 and 5 is exempt by virtue of section 40(2) of FOIA and have detailed our rationale as to why this exemption applies. We have also provided you with links to guidance issued by the Information Commissioner's Office which we have followed in responding to your request.

Request 1

Please provide the date on which Constable [NAMED INDIVIDUAL] was suspended.

Request 2

His solicitor stated that he 'would lose his job if convicted'. Can you confirm that this is the case?

Request 5

How many (i) 'certain occurrences' and (ii) 'other such records' is Constable Mallet alleged to have accessed?

Answer

The requested information is exempt by virtue of section 40(2) of FOIA as detailed below.

Section 17(1) of the Freedom of Information Act 2000 requires the Police Service of Northern Ireland, when refusing to provide such information (because the information is exempt) to provide you the applicant with a notice which:

- (a) states that fact,
- (b) specifies the exemption in question and
- (c) states (if not otherwise apparent) why the exemption applies.

The exemption/s, as well as the factors the Department considered when deciding where the public interest lies, are listed below:

Section 40(2)(a)(b) by virtue of 40(3)(A)(a) Personal Information – Information constitutes personal data and disclosure would contravene any of the Data Protection principles

The full text of exemptions can be found at www.legislation.gov.uk and further guidance on how they operate can be located on the Information Commissioners Office website www.ico.org.uk.

Section 40 (2)

Section 40 (2) of the FOIA is an absolute exemption which means there is no requirement on PSNI to consider whether there is a public interest in disclosure. It is an interface exemption and we must consider whether release of the information would breach the General Data Protection Regulations ('GDPR') or the Data Protection Act 2018 ('DPA') Third party personal information constitutes 'personal data' under the GDPR (Article 4) and DPA (Part 1 s.3).

Under the Freedom of Information Act, PSNI must consider if information can be released into the public domain. We have therefore considered whether the disclosure of this personal data is subject to the exemption at Section 40(2) of the Freedom of Information Act 2000 by virtue of s40 (3)(A)(a). As this information is 'personal data', PSNI considered whether disclosure would contravene any of the six data protection principles contained within the GDPR or DPA.

The six data protection principles are good information handling standards which PSNI must comply with in relation to how it handles personal information, including deciding whether to disclose it or not. In particular, the first principle requires personal data to be processed in a 'lawful and fair' manner. In considering whether it is 'fair' to any individual to release information about them, PSNI considered the likely expectations of those individuals and the nature of the information involved. Individuals must have confidence that their information is treated sensitively and appropriately by PSNI. The PSNI has a duty to protect the personal data which includes police officers and staff and this type of data into the public domain that relates or could be used to identify persons will be unfair to any individual concerned. Police Officers and staff must have confidence that their information is treated sensitively and appropriately. We consider it would be extremely unfair to those individuals and therefore it would be a breach of the first principle of data protection legislation as we consider those individuals would not have any reasonable expectation that PSNI would disclose information of this nature relating to them eg 'their names'. This information is therefore exempt under section 40 (2) of the FOIA as it contravenes data protection legislation to release it and the PSNI has made the decision to withhold the information.

The release of information under the Freedom of Information Act is considered a release into the public domain and not just to the individual requesting the information. Once information is disclosed by FOI there is no control or limits as to who or how information is shared with other individuals, therefore a release under FOI is considered a release to the world in general.

Request 3

Since 1 April 2018 to date, how many officers have been convicted of misconduct in public office relating to 'access[ing] certain occurrences and other such records on the police computer system'?

Answer

No officers have been convicted of misconduct in a public office in relation to the accessing of police records since 1st April 2018

Request 4

Of those officers convicted, how many lost their jobs?

Answer

No officers have been convicted of misconduct in a public office in relation to the accessing of police records since 1st April 2018

Request 6

Please provide all category headings available on the police computer system that would fall under 'certain occurrences' and 'other such records'.

Answer

The record categories on the PSNI computer system are as follows:
